Ranaway.

A double team, owned by a gentleman from the rural "deestricts," took fright yesterday morning near the White Elephant saloon and rau at a rapid speed down Main street until it reached the Pickwick hotel. At this reached the Pickwick hotel. At this juncture of the dangerous proceedings the animals suddenly came to a hait by ruoning into the lamp-post situated immediately in front of Mr. Murphy's gents' furnishing establishment, and completely demolished the glass globe attached thereto. Msj. Will J. Murphy, who was standing in the door of his store at the time, made an attenuation stands the stands of the store at the time, made an attenuation stands and the stands of the store at the stands of t attempt to stop the frightened pair, but after mature deliberation very wisely decided to allow the lamp-post the unenviable honor.

Terrell, recent aspirants to that lofty standard in American society. That the contracting parties were anxious to enter into that state, no one anxious to enter into that tary. anxious to enter into that state, no one will for a moment controvert. Eye-witnesses to the ceremony go so far as to say they were determined to wed, notwithstanding objections were interposed. Now for a brief statement of the affair: Mr. J. G. White left Dallas Monday, his objective point being Terrell. Arriving at the last-named city he alled at the residence of his fair bride-elect and informed her that he had completed all arrangements whereby they could all arrangements whereby they could get married at Dallas, and immedi-ately, at that, if she would but accompany him to that city. Miss Poliard, of course, assented, and the pair left Terrell this morning on their happy mission. Before leaving Terrell the mpany was ordered paid from the ablic building fund and the amount ereof was ordered transferred from at fund for that purpose.

If you motion of the chairman of the buce committee it was ordered that the sum of $900 he transferred from use public building fund for the purpose of settling one month's salaries the police force, since the police and was farther behind than the informed them that it was unlawful for him to perform the ceremony, as the license had been secured in another county. Still being deter-mined to wed, the disappointed lovers waited for the west-bound train with the intention of going elsewhere until they could find a man who was willing to violate the law, at least to that extent. Having boarded the train they incidentally heard that they were traveling on the Texas & Pacific rail-road, known in Texas as the "Wed-ding Route," also that each train invariably had a clergyman on board Mr. W. inquired of several passengers whether or not a preacher was aboard; finally he came across Rev. W. H. Howell, a well-known divine of this tection of the state, and related his troubles. In a few moments Mr. White and Miss Pollard were seen standing in the aisle of the sleepivg-car, and Rev. Mr. Howell, immediately in front of them. performing the ceremony. The wed-ding took place just as the train was nearing this city, in the presence of a large number of passengers. Mr. and Mrs. White returned to Dallas last night, "determined" not to take mat-

And the Bee-Line Route.

The management of the Bee Line are highly pleased with the liberal patronage best wed upon them by the people of Texas, and show their appreciation of the same by providing for the comfort of their patrons in every way possible

The equipment of the Bee Line, as well as the track, is, we feel safe in saying, second to none, and, considering the fact that this company make no extra charge for carrying passen-gers on their limited express trains, and having the advantage of landing their passengers in the Grand Central depot. New York city, the only depot in the city, thereby sav-ing the annoyance, inconvenience and expense of transfer and ferry. These, as well as the running of through pelacs cars from St. Louis to principal Eastern cities and summer resorts, are a few of the many good reasons why this line has become such a favorite with our people.

Ticket agents throughout the state report heavy travel, which is a good indication that times are good. No doubt the fine crops have something to do with this. They (the ticket agents also say the cool, comfortable Bee Line is the favorite, especially so during the hot summer months.

AUSTIN.

A Million and a Quarter Acres of School Land Leased at the Minimum Price of Six Cents.

A Long Equabble Over the Three-Section Question-Many Applicants for a Single Section.

Special to the Gazette.

AUSTIN, TEX., July 7 -The land board in session to-day lessed 1,250,000 acres of school land, the rolls from Tom Green county adding applications for 250,000 acres to those reported last night. There was but little competition, the bids indicating a tacit agreement among applicants to divide up the territory and thus get it at the minimum price, six cents. The leases are chiefly in large tracks to corporations and wealthy individuals.

The most interesting part of the session was over the sales. There are 325 applications for one section and less, as actual settlers, and those which were reached of this number were quickly disposed of, but a hitch oc-curred over the competitive bids under the new resolution authorizing the sale of three grazing sections to one individual. When Hardeman county was taken up a protest was read from a citizen, declaring that it was as good an agricultural county as Williamson, from which he hailed, and asking that all of its lands be classed as agricultural and sold in quantities of one section only. This, he said, would checkmate the speculators and if the actual settlers were given an open field they would settle up the county in a short time. On this statement the board by a vote of three to one rejected all the bids for three sections from Hardeman, although, with one exception, they complied with the law. Walsh, Swain and Templeton voted in the affirmative and Lubbock in the negative. In three other counties the same action was taken. The secretary of the board was instructed to send the hids back for batter treat that the bids back for better proof that the lands are fit only for grazing purposes, but, as the bidders furnished all the proofs required by the original resolution, it is believed that the board is preparing to go back to the one-section rule. Walsh and Templeton are known to favor this plan, and if Swain sticks to the three-section provision the governor will be called in to break the tie. Walsh declared to day, in discussing this question, that having withdrawn from the board the governor had no right to take any further part in its proceedings. Several sharp passages occurred among the members tion, it is believed that the board is passages occurred among the members of the board, in one of which Lubbeck charged Templeton with being one of the best free-grass men he knew and remarked again, when the question of law was brought up, that the board had been making and unmaking law at pleasure. The board meets again to-morrow, when the three-section question will be probably settled.

The penitentiary board held another meeting this evening and considered the report of Mr. Binbinbine, the Philadelphia expert, in regard to the iron furnace at Rusk. It was very favora-bly received, and the suggestions in regard to the establishment of certain manufactories will probably be acted
